Event summary

UNLV mass shooting

A mass shooting occurred at the University of Nevada in Las Vegas (UNLV) shortly before noon local time on 6 December 2023. At least four people were killed, including the shooter, a college professor who was killed in a shootout with the police.

The mass shooting triggered road closures in the UNLV area and a ground stop at Las Vegas Harry Reid International Airport (LAS/KLAS). Flight delays and road closures continued through 7 December.
